ROUND WORLD FLIGHT STARTS; WRECK ENDS RUTH NICHOLS TRIP

Woman Flyer Hurt And Plane Damaged At St. John, N. B.

(Bulletin)

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., June 23—Wiley Post, one-eyed airman and Harold Gatty, who taught Mrs. Anne Lindbergh how to fly, took off from Harbor Grace airport at 4:57 p. m. local time, today, on an attempted non-stop flight to Berlin. The trans-Atlantic crossing was scheduled to be the second leg of a projected record-breaking flight around the world. The airmen hoped to complete their around-the-world journey in ten days, covering 15,000 miles.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., June 23—Wiley Post, veteran aviator of Atlantic City, and Harold Gatty, Los Angeles flyer, hopped off from here today in a Lockheed Vega cabin monoplane for Harbor Grace, N. F., on the first leg of a proposed 15,000 mile flight around the world.

From Harbor Grace the flyers will head across the Atlantic for Berlin as soon as the weather is favorable. They expect to circle the globe in ten days, arriving back at Roosevelt Field by the fourth of July.

Their plane, carried 300 gallons of gasoline and thirty-one gallons of oil.

Their route and the distance of each jump is as follows:

New York to Harbor Grace—1,200 miles.

Harbor Grace to Berlin—2,500 miles.

Berlin to Moscow—925 miles.

Moscow to Irkutsk—2,500 miles.

Irkutsk to Khabarovsk—1,100 miles.

Khabarovsk to Nome—2,300 miles.

Nome to Edmonton—1,900 miles.

Edmonton to New York—2,000 miles.

The flyers planned to stop at Harbor Grace only for fuel, continuing immediately if the weather is favorable. Stops at other points on the route will be of brief duration except at Berlin and Irkutsk, where overnight halts will be made.

The gasoline capacity of their plane is 540 gallons and the ship has a cruising range of 150 miles per hour. Inasmuch as the hourly gasoline consumption is 22 gallons, the full fuel load is estimated sufficient to keep the plane going for about twenty-four to twenty-five hours at a stretch. The flyers figure that the longest hop of the journey, that from Harbor Grace to Berlin, will require only a little more than 19 hours.

NEW YORK, June 23—Lee Trenholm, directing the aviation activities of Miss Ruth Nichols, said today that her trans-Atlantic flight would be postponed indefinitely as the result of the smash-up of her plane at St. John, N. B., last evening.

"The plane is damaged so badly that the flight is off for a long time, at least," Trenholm said after a telephone call from St. John.

"The plane probably will be shipped back here for repairs."

ST. JOHN, N. B., June 23—With her plane badly smashed on the first leg of her proposed trans-Atlantic flight Miss Ruth Nichols, society aviatrix of Rye, N. Y., was under the care of physicians at General Hospital here today.

Landing at the municipal airport here last evening after a flight from Floyd Field, Barren Island, New York, Miss Nichols sustained a badly wrenched back and cut on her right leg when her Lockheed monoplane overran the runway and crashed into trees and bushes bordering the flying field.

Physicians feared that the flyer's spine might have been injured when she was thrown against the sharp corners of the fuel tanks in the cabin plane.

Miss Nichols said that the glare of the setting sun, reflected into her eyes from the glass windshield of her plane, had caused the accident.

BOY SHOT TO DEATH

CINCINNATI, O., June 23—Investigation was being conducted here today into the death of 11-year-old Robert Dier, who was killed by a stray rifle bullet while he was shooting at targets with an air gun yesterday.

BRINGS LETTERS

Confident that three letters he received from Starr Faithfull will solve the mystery of her death, Dr. G. Jameson Carr, surgeon of the Liger Franconia, shown upon his arrival from England in Boston en route to New York, has implied his belief that she took her own life. Starr is believed to have been infatuated with Dr. Carr whom she had known since 1927.

ONE KILLED, FOUR WOUNDED IN CLASH AT MINE ENTRANCE

Shooting Occurs At Picket Line; 2,400 Return To Work

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 23—One man was killed and four others seriously wounded in a clash between pickets and sheriffs deputies near the entrance of a mine at Arnold City, near here, today.

Mike Ghilopovich, 40, was shot through the heart and instantly killed when he ran to the porch of a store he operates near the mine to protest against the shooting.

The other victims, all removed to the Charlevoix Hospital in a serious condition, were:

John Brown, shot three times in the back; John Galla, wounded in the arm; F. R. Favis, shot through the hip and pelvic bone; and an unidentified man, shot through the arm.

The situation at the mine entrance was tense this morning as the picket line sought to deter strikebreakers from entering the workings. According to eyewitnesses, the shooting burst forth when a small boy hurled an egg at a deputy sheriff. The officers were said to have ordered the pickets to retreat and then opened fire.

PITTSBURGH, June 23—Under terms of an agreement between the United Mine Workers of America and the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, 2,400 miners at five of the company's mines will return to work tomorrow.

The agreement, which was to be signed formally in the office of Samuel Puraglove, president of the coal company, at noon, is subject to ratification by local unions but as the company made many concessions miners spokesmen said it was certain of ratification.

Philip Murray, who represented the U. M. W. in the negotiations for settlement of the strike, wired Gov. Gifford Pinchot: "Your personal influence and splendid work in this matter are largely responsible for the consummation of the wage agreement and resumption of contractual relations."

STOCKS OPEN FIRM

LONDON, June 23—The beneficial effect of President Hoover's war debt proposal continued to be felt on the London stock exchange today. Stocks opened firm all along the line. Trading was quiet in the early session.

CAPITAL BELIEVES DEBT MORATORIUM WILL BE EXTENDED

Reconsideration Of Entire Problem Seems Possible

WASHINGTON, June 23—While President Hoover has proposed suspension of war debt payments for only one year, the belief is widely entertained here that eventually it will work out for two years—and maybe more. Some believe eventually it will lead to reconsideration of the whole aggravating question of war debts.

Officially, this is not admitted in Washington. Privately it is.

Several factors contribute to this belief. One is that a period of twelve months is too short a time for Germany to pull herself out of the financial morass in which she has been floundering.

Another is that the question of extension of the moratorium will arise next June, just as the two great political parties are squaring away at each other for a hectic presidential campaign. Neither party could likely risk offending German sympathizers by opposing another year's breathing spell for Germany. And if there is no opposition Germany will get it.

As to the future reparations and debts after the two-year period there is only vast and confused speculation here. There is vague talk of international conferences, which the administration frowns upon.

Congress set the terms upon which the allied nations are repaying their war loans to the U. S. treasury, and only congress can modify them. Heretofore, every suggestion of cancellation or modification has been howled down in congress overwhelmingly.

If the moratorium proves an economic panacea for the world's ills, congress might undergo a change of sentiment. But that is pure conjecture. On the other hand, if there is no decided improvement in business, there probably will be another large treasury deficit next year, as there was this year, and congress is going to be confronted with the task of getting more funds, i. e. a tax increase.

To raise taxes, and at the same time defer collection of what Europe owes us, or forgive it, is politically almost inconceivable. No party could sponsor such a program.

The President received non-partisan support in his move. Democratic voters with Republicans in endorsing the year's holiday. Whether the same non-partisan support could be obtained for an extension, or whether Mr. Hoover could rally

ARNO FINISHES "TIME" IN RENO

Peter Arno, Mrs. Arno and Arno's Reno home.

Reno is agog over the Vanderbilt-Arno rumpus which has been affording gossip for the prospective divorcees, sojourning there, ever since Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., allegedly chased Peter Arno, prominent New York illustrator, from his home with a gun, then sued Mrs. Vanderbilt for divorce. Mrs. Vanderbilt was expected to file counter suit and, since Arno has completed his necessary six weeks residence, he was expected to file suit for divorce from his wife, who is known as Lois "Lip" Long, in literary circles. Mrs. Arno, who is in London, will contest the suit, it is believed, and Arno will consent that the decree be given her. Above photos show Mrs. Arno her husband and his file counter suit and, since Arno

OFFICERS ARREST TWO FOR LIQUOR OFFENSES AFTER PISTOL BATTLE

Seize 67 Gallons Of Liquor And Auto; One Man Flees

(BULLETIN)
Arraigned before Municipal Judge E. Dawson Smith Tuesday, Smith and Jones pleaded guilty to possessing liquor and were each fined $80 and costs. They were committed to jail in default of payment of the assessments.

Two suspected bootleggers were arrested and sixty-seven gallons of liquor was confiscated by Sheriff John Baughn and his entire force of deputies, who engaged in a gun battle about midnight Monday with an unidentified driver of an auto who escaped on foot after his machine was riddled with bullets. No one was wounded in the shooting.

The men under arrest gave their names as Roy Smith, 24, and his uncle, James Jones, 45. They live together at Smith's home on a country road leading from the Jamestown Pike to Wilberforce, about two and one-half miles east of Xenia.

The sheriff and his deputies, after concealing themselves close to the Smith home, waited until an auto drove up. Smith and Jones, assisted by the driver of the auto, were loading gallon glass jugs of liquor into the car when their task was interrupted by Sheriff Baughn, who commanded the men not to move.

The driver of the auto immediately opened fire with a revolver, authorities say, and the sheriff and his deputies exchanged several shots with the man at close range. None of the bullets took effect, except that the liquor car was riddled. The driver fled on foot and escaped.

Smith and Jones, unarmed, offered no resistance to arrest and were lodged in jail. Sixty-seven gallon glass jugs full of whiskey were seized. Sheriff Baughn advanced his belief that the Smith home has been a liquor distributing agency for nearly a year.

Authorities confiscated the auto of the escaped gun welder. The car is an Essex coach, 1927 model, and bore license C88,919, reported to have been issued four days ago to Calvin Blunt, colored, E. Second St.

CIGARETTE TAX MAY BE DEFEATED; FOES WIN IN COMMITTEE

Would Create System Of Bootlegging Is Claim

COLUMBUS, O., June 23—The proposed cigarette tax bill was still left in the hands of the house of representatives taxation committee today following futile efforts to report it out for passage last night. The measure went down after Rep. Wilbur E. Maddux (R) of Cincinnati, a member of the committee, brought forth a volley of vigorous opposition, charging that if the bill became a law it would "create a system of bootlegging as bad as that which has grown up under the prohibition laws."

"It would put our dealers out of business. At least 50,000 persons working in Cincinnati would buy their cigarettes at points in Kentucky," he predicted.

Balloting resulted in ten votes favoring recommendation and eight opposed. At least thirteen of the twenty-four members of the committee were necessary to report the bill out.

Maddux then attempted to have the bill indefinitely postponed, but Rep. Clarence H. Burke (D) of Huron County, who sought to push the bill through the committee, objected on the grounds that some means must be effected to balance the state's budget and "if we fail to pass this bill, we may be here all summer."

The committee supported Burke and, accordingly, the bill remains alive today in the hands of the committee.

The committee recommended that the house concur in the action of the senate which last week adopted the special joint taxation committee's resolution providing for submission to Ohio voters next November of the proposal that $7,500,000 in bonds be issued for the purpose of financing the state welfare department's institutional building program.

Passage of the Whittemore bill reducing incorporation fees to be collected by the secretary of state, with a view to encouraging Ohio business concerns to incorporate, was recommended by the committee. The bill originated in the senate.

Lacking one vote, the committee failed to recommend adoption of the senate joint resolution providing for continuance of the special joint taxation committee after the close of the present session. The vote was: for adoption, 12; against, 3.

COAST HARBOR RAZED BY FIRE

ST. JOHN, N. B., June 23—The fire which raged along the waterfront here yesterday caused a damage of $100,000, the harbor commission announced today. Among the vessels caught in the docks and destroyed was the Canadian Pacific coastal steamer Empress, which formerly ran between St. John and Boston. To prevent the explosion of fifty tons of fuel oil in her holds, the steamer's sea cocks were flung open when it was seen that the flames would envelop her.

So far, no loss of life has been reported. The fire began in a grain shed and, fanned by a strong breeze raced along the waterfront, destroying the government immigration office, docks, ships and grain elevators.

SUBURB MAYOR IS INDICTED

Faces Charges In Racket Expose

DETROIT, June 23—The special grand jury's expose of gangland and racketeering today produced a fresh sensation when it was learned that one of the secret indictments returned by the investigating body called for the arrest of Rudolph Tenerowicz, mayor of the suburb of Hamtramck and acknowledged political power here.

A bench warrant was also issued for Fred W. Dibbie, president of the Hamtramck council. The two men, with four former council members, are alleged to have accepted a bribe of $5,250 in connection with the awarding of a school contract of which racketeers had gained control.

The grand jury has already indicted Robert A. McPherson, deputy chief of detectives, and Prosecutor Harry S. Toy stated that many more "eminent personages" had been secretly indicted.

The secret indictments have thrown the underworld into a panic. More than 500 persons have stormed the prosecutor's office demanding to know if they were among the fifty indicted.

GUARDS AT PEN ARE FIRED ON

COLUMBUS, O., June 23—Three Ohio Penitentiary guards were fired upon early today by two men who sped past the prison in an automobile, according to police.

The guards declared the same men rode past the penitentiary, shouting abusive language, several previous times, but did not fire at them until today.

Informed of the shooting, police at once started an investigation to determine whether the men might have been former convicts with a grievance against the prison guards.

Guards who reported the shooting were C. W. Pittman, J. W. Howell and J. E. Brown.

The shots went wild, the guards said.

SENATE COMMITTEE PREPARES TO CLASH OVER WAGE CUTTING

Favor Plan To Avoid Salary Slash In Colleges

COLUMBUS, O., June 23—A militant senate finance committee today prepared to clash with the house of representatives over the latter's demand that salaries and wages be cut 10 per cent at all state-supported colleges and universities.

Leading the committee out of the wilderness of confusion, Chairman Robert L. Rohe (R) of Tiffin, last night submitted a plan by which the house scheme would be discarded.

After a long hearing in which presidents of the five state educational institutions appeared to charge the house with "discrimination," the Rohe plan was presented. It found almost immediate approval by the senate committee.

In brief, the Rohe plan aims to add to the amount allowed the five schools by the house barely enough money to permit the employment of teaching staffs on the same basis as in the past biennium.

At Ohio State, Miami and Ohio Universities, and Kent State and Bowling Green Colleges, the amount to be allowed for "personal service" would be 8 1/2 per cent less than provided in the Cooper budget but much more than was asked in the bill which recently passed the house.

By Senator Rohe's suggestion the five institutions would be given back $470,000 taken from them by the house, distributed as follows: Ohio State $200,000, Miami $127,000, Ohio University $60,000, Kent State $54,000, Bowling Green $36,000.

While "certain adjustments" might have to be made in general the passage of the Rohe plan would spare colleges and universities of the necessity of ordering a horizontal salary cut, administrators said.

The proportionate increase suggested by Rohe followed a long questioning of President George W. Rightmire of Ohio State University.

Ohio State will need $200,000 in addition to the $6,131,530 provided in the house bill for salaries and wages, Dr. Rightmire said. He said the school would be badly crippled without that sum.

Pointing out that the total would then be about 8 1/2 per cent less than the amount recommended by former Governor Cooper, Senator Rohe suggested that the sums for other schools be reached by reducing their Cooper budget items by the same per cent.

The result, it was learned, would be: Ohio University $1,179,000, Miami $1,134,000, Bowling Green $570,400 and Kent State $536,850.

Members of the senate finance committee appeared willing to reverse the house plan after listening to addresses by visiting presidents, who presented their objections.

TELLING the WORLD'S NEWS with PICTURES

SUMMER BRINGS NEW CROP OF TRANSOCEAN FLYERS

Map indicates the routes which the various aerial adventurers, ready to hop off as soon as weather permits, will take in their transatlantic and world flights, this summer. Among them are two women, Miss Ruth Nichols and Miss Laura Ingalls, both experienced pilots.

May Wed Soon

Despite quasi denials by both parties, their close friends persist in the belief that Miss Elizabeth Morrow (above), daughter of Senator Dwight Morrow, of New Jersey and sister-in-law of Charles A. Lindbergh, will soon wed the Rev. Charles H. Roddy, pastor of North Arlington N. J. Mr. Roddy is a widower, having been married in 1929 to Miss Adelaide Landon, of New York, who died of spinal meningitis on their honeymoon.

Hero Worship for Champ

Hero worship can start at almost any age if this picture is any indication. Dorothy Reinheimer, six-year-old Chicago miss, admires Roland Young, also of Chicago and boy athletic champion of the U. S. A., so much that she is offering her hero her glass of chocolate. And if you remember your childhood days, that's some offer! Roland was selected from among 22,800 boy contestants in this country, the Philippines and Hawaii.

Beautiful but Far From Dumb

Beauty is merely one of the attributes of this lovely German girl, Fraulein Gina Falkenberg, of Berlin. In addition to being Germany's woman golf champion, she holds the amateur championships for swimming and hurdling, a record that explodes the "beautiful but dumb" fallacy beloved of our cynics.

Nice Mother, Nice Daughter

Maybe you didn't know it but Irene Rich, film actress, has a grownup daughter who is just about as nice looking as her famous mother. This interesting picture was taken at Smith College, Northampton, Mass., when Frances, the daughter, was graduated. Proud mother, Irene, journeyed all the way from California to attend the commencement exercises.

Tree for "Trees" Author

A living memorial to Joyce Kilmer, author of the immortal poem, "Trees," was planted in the form of an elm in a plot of ground in Central Park, New York, the other day as Father John B. Kelly, spiritual adviser of the Catholic Writers' Guild, blessed the ground in which the tree found root. The above picture shows the ceremony attending the tree planting.

Leading Man Led Star to Altar

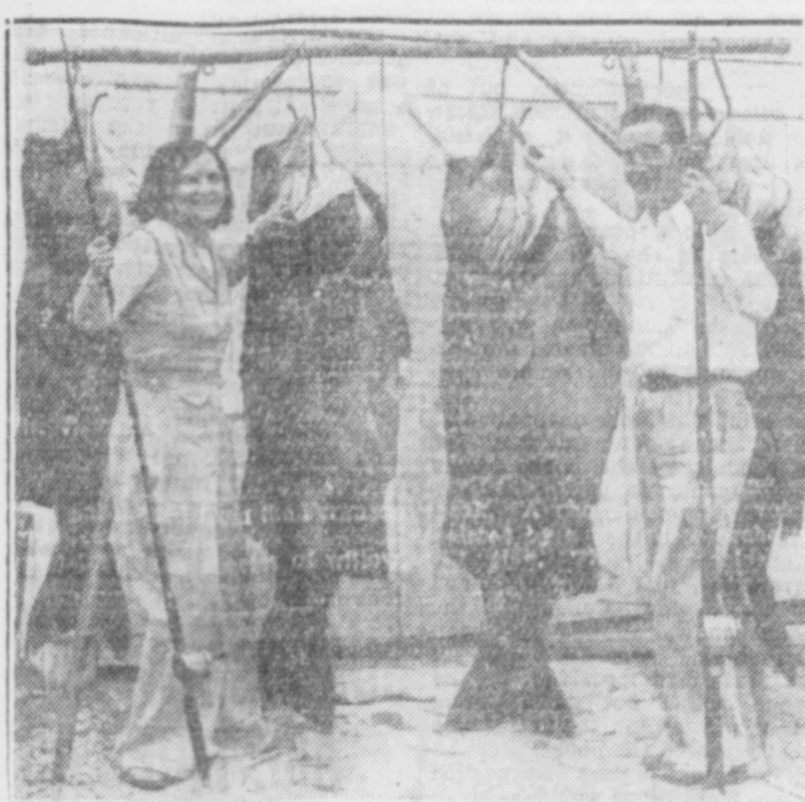

He used to be her leading man but now— Well he married her, so you can draw your own conclusions as to who is going to do all the leading from now on. The bride is lovely Helen Gahagan, stage star, and her brand new husband is Melvin Douglas. The happy couple are shown as they appeared immediately after the wedding at the home of the bride in New York. The newlyweds will continue to appear together.

Home-Made, But It Flies

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Day showed the aviation world something when they flew their home-made 4-cylinder wooden plane at Teterboro Airport, New Jersey. The plane "Ericka" is shown above in the air with the inventor, Charles Day, and wife, inset. They plan to make a round-the-world trip in the strange-looking plane.

Proof of That Fish Story

Fishermen, and particularly fisherwomen, commonly lack proof of Gargantuan catches on that fishing trip, but here are two whose stories ring true to the tune of four black bass ranging from 250 to 500 pounds in weight. Nora Minter and L. M. Whitlock, of Los Angeles, each landed two of the giant bass shown with them of near a ton of fish.

"Skippy" Signs for Film$

Putting his signature on the well-known dotted line, "Skippy," the precocious "Peter Pan" of the comic strip, gives another evidence of precocity in selling his imitable pranks for the amusement of movie fans. Skippy, when not on the studio lot, is seven-year-old Jackie Cooper already a star of the first magnitude. The document he is signing is a long-term contract with M-G-M, the president of which, Louis B. Mayer, is shown with him.

Two Brands of Sweetness

The finest cherries of the Michigan crop and one of the fairest blossoms of Traverse City, Mich., Maxine Weaver, 17, stage a sweet get-together on their arrival in Chicago. Maxine, selected as the queen of the annual cherry blossom festival, journeyed to Chicago to invite Mayor Cermak to the Michigan fete. Who could resist her?

Learns Wilson Saved Her

Sixteen years after she was sentenced to death by German officers on a charge of being a spy Mile. Louise Thuliez, present head of a girls' school at Paris, has learned that it was through the intervention of President Woodrow Wilson that her life was spared. Mile. Thuliez was sentenced with Edith Cavell, famous English war nurse, whose life was taken by a firing squad. Mile. Thuliez is shown with a group of her students.

Ready for Trans-Oceanic Race

The thirty-foot schooner, "Seven Seas," shown as she first tasted the briny at Neponset, Mass. The craft was built for competition in the Trans-Atlantic race, from Newport, R. I., to England. Adele Bellenbaugh (inset), daughter of the owner, F. S. Bellenbaugh, of Brookline, Mass., sponsored the launching of the boat.

NO MOTHER-IN-LAW PROBLEM HERE

When Mrs. Agnes Athens, who lives near Woodward, Okla., wants to argue with her mother-in-law, she simply retires to a corner of the room and has it out with herself; when her children want to "go to see grandma" they simply look her up. This real case of scrambled relations was bared in Wichita, Kas., when Mrs. Athens, inset, applied for the custody of her twin sons. She divorced her first husband, Joseph Athens, then married his father, thus becoming her own mother-in-law and grandmother to her own children. Top photo shows her twin sons—grandsons, Carl and Carol, 14.

Entry in Transatlantic Race?

The intensive course of flight and navigation training which she is undergoing at Roosevelt Field, N. Y., lends support to the belief that Laura Ingalls (above), famous stunt and cross-country flyer, will vie with Ruth Nichols for the distinction of being the first woman to make a solo flight across the Atlantic. Miss Nichols' flight manager has announced that she will take off from St. John's, Newfoundland, for Le Bourget, France, between May 20 and June 1.

MATCH OF INTERNATIONAL IMPORT

Because of the proximity of Bulgaria to Russia, the coming wedding of the Grand Duchess Kyril, daughter of the Grand Duke Cyril Vladimirovitch, recognized pretender to the Russian throne, and Prince Cyril of Bulgaria, is interpreted as presaging renewed efforts of the grand duke to establish his claim to the czar's crown.

MRS. LOWTHER TO DIE OCTOBER 2

JEFFERSON, O., June 23.—Sentenced to death in the electric chair next Oct. 2 as the first woman ever to pay that penalty in the state of Ohio, Maude Lowther, convicted slayer of Mrs. Clara Smith, wife of her paramour, Tilgh Smith, today waited in her cell here while preparations were made to take her to Columbus city jail.

The quarter-blood Indian girl, who was denied a new trial and formally sentenced to death by Judge James C. Oglesbee late yesterday, probably will be taken to Columbus next week. She will be held in city jail because of lack of facilities for women in Ohio penitentiary.

Attorney Frank L. Marvin and his son, Kenneth, defense counsel for the Indian girl, indicated they will file an appeal from the denial of a new trial with the district court of appeals. Smith, also sentenced to death in the electric chair for complicity in his wife's murder, also has an appeal before the court.

Mrs. Madden and Shields were assisted by Dr. R. H. Groves, this city and Dr. L. L. Taylor, Yellow Springs. Nurses assisting were Mrs. Paul Halder and Miss Elizabeth Hardy.

JUDGE WILL DECIDE ELECTRIC PROBLEM

The complicated Xenia electric franchise controversy in all its intricate phases was taken under advisement Monday by Common Pleas Judge Walter D. Jones, Troy.

With counsel representing the city of Xenia, Dayton, Power and Light Co. and the Citizens Public Service Co. present at a hearing before Judge Jones in Dayton Monday, the Miami County magistrate postponed a ruling on any of the legal questions involved in the two injunction suits and one mandamus action awaiting his consideration.

Announcing he has been busily engaged in handling a crowded court docket at Troy, the judge told the interested parties in the case that he will study the Xenia light question suits as soon as possible.

Casts for the plays include several experienced actors. In "The Constant Lover," Janet Leckie of Cleveland will play "Evelyn," and Robert Allen of Brooklyn, N. Y., will play "Ceil." "The Wonder Hat" will include the following: "Columbine," Hean Hanson of Gallop, New Mexico; "Margot," Marion Lippert of Shenandoah, Iowa; "Pierrot," Elmer Johnson of Cleveland; "Harlequin," Harry Bonneau of Brooklyn, N. Y., and "Punchinello," John Henly of Indianapolis.

Roland Shackford of Portland, Maine, will play "Agamemnon." In "The Aulis Difficulty," Charles Kise of Trenton, N. J., will play "Odysseus," Jerome Strauss of Philadelphia, "Calchas," Mary Norris of McRae, Georgia, "Iphigenia," and Eleanor Bates of Melrose, Mass., "Clytemnestra."

Yes—You, Too, Can Have Good Health—Eat Anything—Rest Well—Look Fine

"Drink Your Way to Health" is the slogan that conquers nervous indigestion, stomach trouble and intestinal poisoning, bringing health and contentment that you have yearned for.

Out the window goes strong drugs, heavy purges, blood remedies, liver medicines and so-called tonics. Science has something new here and superior to offer humanity.

Forget the expensive doctoring and trips to health resorts. There's a new and better way—the nature's way to magnetic health and vitality.

This way you drink your way to health. You make your medicine at home.

And so quick are results that almost the first few days you feel better, sleep well, eat well, and the dawn of the joy of living will commence to appear.

Look in your drugstore's window for the orange colored can of Dr. Parker's treatment. It contains a month's supply of powder that dissolves in your drinking water.

From nature's laboratories comes this wonderful vegetable preparation discovered by a famous Ohio doctor.

For many years in the East this treatment has produced amazing results, made thousands of friends and thousands of more people are recorded each month who are deeply grateful for the results they have gotten.

Results Guaranteed

People here are just being introduced to this great treatment, but your druggist knows about it and will guarantee you results or money back.

There's nothing harmful, unpleasant, alcoholic about Dr. Parker's treatment, being purely vegetable. It can be given with safety to the smallest infant, but, oh, how it works wonders.

Your intestines are swept clean of poisons. Your stomach toned up and appetite returns. Eat and enjoy anything. Gas and bloating disappear. Stomach troubles vanish. New strength and ambition appear. No more constipation or indigestion. High blood pressure is reduced. Rheumatism and neuritis quickly relieved.

Can you believe these promises? It may sound almost too good to be true, yet try for yourself, see how quickly you respond to this same, safe, resultful treatment.

Healthy rich, red blood is nature's way of curing you. But you can't make healthy blood when food sours in the stomach. You can't feel right or look right when your insides are simply manufacturing poisons. If you are belching, have gas on the stomach, bowels irregular, no wonder you are nervous, run down and worn out. Put a teaspoonful of Dr. Parker's treatment in your glass of drinking water. In a few days how different you feel! How the rich, red blood sweeps through the system, banishing disease and discomfort—bringing ease and happiness.

Vigor and Vitality

There are hundreds of names of diseases but 99% of human ailments come from the colon. This is a scientific fact and the way to health is clearly shown. Cleanse your colon, get your bowels, stomach, liver working right, build up rich, red blood, and you won't know a sick day.

What Dr. Parker's treatment has done for others probably it will do for you. But your druggist, knowing its healing powers in even 12-year chronic cases, offers an iron-clad guarantee.

This guarantee is: "Try a box—if it doesn't work a marvelous change for the better, we will refund your money."

"Cured influenza," says one. "Instant relief from chronic indigestion," says another. "Insomnia—gas pains all gone," says another. Cases of relieved rheumatism, neuritis, high blood pressure, loss of energy, too numerous to mention.

Not a Patent Medicine

You have never tried anything like Dr. Parker's treatment. It's exceptionally palatable and agreeable to take, and by making your own medicine at home, getting well costs only a few cents a day.

"Suffered for 12 years," says William O. Vandy, "now I am a well man—heartily enjoying three square meals a day."

Remember this is not a patent medicine, but the famous prescription of a reputable physician. It is nationally known, and less than no time will be the topic of conversation here. The sick are always grateful for relief.

Look for the orange colored can. Get a can tonight. Make your first step to real health and happiness. Remember Dr. Parker's treatment—and take no substitute for there is no substitute for this unusual medicine.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

And I have declared unto them Thy name, and will declare it: that the love wherewith thou hast loved me may be in them, and I in them.—St. John, xvii, 26.

TAX RETURNS

An executive order has been promulgated by Mr. Hoover, authorizing the opening of individual federal income tax returns to inspection by officials of states which have laws taxing personal incomes. Corporation income tax returns have been open for some years to such inspection. The new order applies only to the fifteen states having individual income tax laws, which would enable the states themselves to obtain the same information if they want to the necessary trouble. The majority of these states are in the south, although the list includes Massachusetts, New York and Delaware.

The theory on which Mr. Hoover's order is based is that the opportunity to consult the federal income tax returns will make easier and more efficient the enforcement of the income tax laws of states taking advantage of it. All these states will have to do to compile their income tax rolls is to copy the federal returns. The fear of the law that Uncle Sam has put into income tax delinquents is counted upon to make the federal returns more accurate than state returns on the same incomes. Citizens will no longer be able to report their incomes to the federal government as one amount and to their state government as a lesser amount, without the risk of detection.

The strongest objection to permitting anything approaching a general divulgence of individual income tax figures has been the fear that the information thus obtained would be used by business competitors and others to the detriment of the taxpayer. That objection still stands. There seems to be nothing in the new order, however, to raise any fear that this information will become general. The records will be opened only to officials of states which can obtain it under their own laws and then only on written request by the governors of those states. On the face of it the order appears adequately to protect the rights of individual income taxpayers. At any rate residents of states not having individual income tax laws have nothing to worry about, as yet.

DISABLED VETERANS

Eight hundred of the country's disabled veterans were recently entertained at an annual garden party at the White House in Washington. This is a fine recognition but it only touches a small fraction of this great army of crippled men who suffered for our sakes. What has life in store for all the rest of them, on the many days when the general community pays no attention to them?

The disabled men came back from the war suffering losses that will never be repaired. The happiness of the people at the end of the war did not mean so much to them. The country may have won, but they had lost. They will continue to pay the price of victory so long as they live.

Many of them have learned to do new kinds of work, and are relatively content. But even they must have many pangs, as they see themselves cut off from pleasures they formerly enjoyed. The legless or armless man still pays his heavy price, though he may have learned to perform some task by which his mind is occupied and his living earned.

Far worse is the case of those whose injuries were so severe that they have not been able to fit into any regular work, or are so handicapped that they must still spend years or the rest of their lives in hospitals. When we fret about business depression, or lack of money, how small these troubles really are, as compared with those of such men.

The country has meant to be generous with these veterans, and has done fairly well in providing hospitals and medical care. Yet much remains to be done beyond that. Even life in the best hospital becomes tedious after a time. Their friends and acquaintances and townspeople should not let them drop out of sight, but should visit them, write them, provide entertainment for them. We must never forget them. They gave the cream of their lives for us here in Ohio.

NATIONAL PLAN FOR BUSINESS

Sentiment seems to be growing that the business of the country needs some kind of system for central planning and direction, so that dangerous extremes can be avoided and depressions prevented. Some authorities claim that the soviet government of Russia is making more progress than America at this time, because the soviet union has a five year plan for national development to which all their people are forced to conform, while American industry is run on a go-as-you-please basis.

The American people, however, will never stand it to be drilled and terrorized the way the Russians are. Planning for our industry will have to depend upon voluntary action.

Four points of such national planning for business, were recently suggested by Col. Franklin, president of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, as follows:

- 1.—Industry must plan for steady employment of its workers.
 - 2.—Governments can aid by planning public works so that they can be prepared for periods of unemployment.
 - 3.—Banks and financial leaders must curb speculation.
 - 4.—Industry must control output through trade associations.
- If the banks and financial leaders could curb the speculative fever which keeps burning up, they would have cured the worst single cause of industrial depressions. And when the industries begin to load the country up with a greater production of commodities than the people can afford to buy. The country needs to avoid extremes of sentiment. When it is blue and despondent it needs some leadership of courage. When it is hilariously hitting the high spots on top of the wave, it needs restraining words of caution.

The suggestion that those two new islands off Brazil may be the commencement of an emergence of submerged Atlantis, shows what a vivid imagination will do when hard pressed.

Does it ever occur to some of our "advanced" writers and artists that their output is difficult to understand because it doesn't mean anything?

The person who thinks he was foolish when he was young because he was ardent and natural, creates a suspicion that he is still more foolish now.

It's no novel experience to live dangerously these days. The person who can manage to live otherwise is a person of resource and shrewdness.

On the other hand, how silly it is to get your body all banged up and your mind all muddled by guzzling booze.

Mr. Capone doesn't look so much like a real honest-to-goodness tough boy now. He was just a counterfeit.

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.—One good thing about the Existing Unpleasantness is that in all lines of endeavor it has knocked the Prima Donna for a row of asterisks. Temperament has been carted away with folded hands and a lily on its chest.

TAMING TEMPERAMENT

Speaking of Temperament and Hard Times: A Hollywood-Worker, back on Broadway from the Coast, was telling the other night how the Ritzy Ritas are treated these days by the Picture Panjandrums.

Word was passed to one of the Big League ladies some time ago that if she continued progressing she was in line for stardom. Whereupon, the story goes, she went high-hat—late for appointments, "snooty" toward department heads, a lofty attitude in the presence of mere featured players. Then came the taming. The vice-president of the organization called her into his office.

"We have selected you for a new leading role," he said. "It's a nice role where you'll have little competition." Or words to that effect. "You'll play opposite Col. Jerry Sands in 'Winners of the Wilderness.' It's a Western melodrama."

Right on the chin, the lady took it. Not an assignment in some gorgeous production where she would wear expensive gowns and jewels and be a sophisticate; but a role in a lowly Western, where there would be a stage coach and smelly horses and lots of shooting in the hills. And she would wear a gingham dress and a bonnet. She wasn't asked if she would play the part. She was assigned to it. She could take it or leave it. Leaving it meant the finish. She played the part, but she played it with tears in her eyes. She learned her lesson. She's one of the most amiable of actresses today.

RECOMMENDATION

If you ever run across a book by Bernard Darwin, called "The Dickens Advertiser," buy it.

Back in the middle decade of the last century when the novels of Dickens were being published in monthly installments, advertisers soon discovered that the slender green pamphlets in which they appeared were having a tremendous circulation and so would afford the best kind of a medium for the announcement of their wares.

The publisher made up "An Advertiser" in the form of a pamphlet which was sewn in the novel installment between its leaves, and there, all manner of merchants described and illustrated their goods.

"The Dickens Advertiser" is a piece of as good fun as this book season is likely to afford.

HOOVER CIRCLES WORRY OVER LINGERING THREAT OF WHAT BORAH MAY DO

CHARLES F. STEWART

WASHINGTON.—Senator William E. Borah's departure for Idaho without pooh-poohing published suggestions of himself for the G. O. P. presidential nomination next year has left a very evident feeling of uneasiness in Hoover circles in Washington.

How the Hoover-ites feel about it can be judged from a remark by Peter F. Snyder, assistant to Secretary of Labor Daugh, as a speaker at the young Republican's meeting in the capital June 1 and 2.

Snyder's oratorical assignment was to prove that the Hawley-Smoot tariff had nothing to do with increased tariff rates recently adopted by Canada, to the injury of certain lines of export trade Americans have been carrying on with the Dominion.

"But perhaps, after all," he admitted, "Canada was a little mad at us. We put a duty on cattle and the Canadians didn't like it. Who, however, was responsible for that? Why, that sterling Republican, Senator Connally of Texas. We put a high duty on cattle and maybe they did not like that, either. But who did it? Oh, that sterling Republican, Senator Borah of Idaho."

Considering that Senator Connally is a well-known Democrat, it requires no diagram to demonstrate that Peter was superlatively sarcastic in terming him a "sterling Republican." In referring similarly to Senator Borah, many persons were of the opinion that he was even more than sarcastic; that he was vacillating against Senator Borah, in fact.

All the speeches, too, which were made before the young Republicans were carefully censored in advance by the G. O. P. national committee. Consequently, what Peter Snyder said can have been no irresponsible outburst of his own; it unquestionably had been duly weighed and considered.

Representative Melvin J. Maas of Minnesota, who is a young Republican himself, being only 33 years old, had some remarks he wanted to make at the meeting and the management never permitted him to utter a syllable. He was eager to discuss prohibition to tell what he thinks of Walter F. Brown's administration of the postoffice department. The fact that the chair wouldn't recognize him he attributes to a suspicion that he would sound a sour note at an otherwise harmonious gathering.

Thus, that Snyder said nothing he was not expected to say may safely be set down as an absolute certainty.

When Senator Borah left for the west he is known to have had with him a vast deal of correspondence urging him to proclaim his candidacy for first place on the 1932 Republican ticket.

If Hoover-ite leaders did not believe him in a frame of mind to yield to these importunities, it is almost incredible that they would have allowed Pete Snyder publicly to antagonize him by speaking of him as a "sterling Republican" in so ironical a vein virtually to term him no Republican whatever.

Of course it is possible for Hoover leadership to be mistaken, but it is hard to think of a more dangerous political mistake for it to fall into.

No politician disputes that not another single individual did any thing like as effective work for Mr. Hoover as Senator Borah during the 1928 campaign.

It is true enough that he has opposed every important Hoover policy since then, but that is a way the Boise citizen has. It does not necessarily imply the least ill feeling on his part—or, necessarily, that he is unprepared to play the same helpful role toward the same candidate in 1932 that he played three years ago.

But, to be sure, the Hoover-ites may have inside information. Supposing that the senator really is planning to come out as a Republican presidential candidate between now and the next convention, the sooner they vacillate against him and the more virus they use, the better for Mr. Hoover.

The vigorous rivalry of Senator Borah would be about the worst misfortune that could befall the present White House tenant. Governor Pinchot's rivalry is not a circumstance to what Senator Borah's would be. Governor Pinchot, if his campaign develops, may be a serious nuisance, but Senator Borah would be a genuine menace. He probably could not take the nomination away from Mr. Hoover, but he surely would cause a terrific jam in the convention, and it even is conceivable that he might get the nomination—which is not the case as to Governor Pinchot.

The essential difference between Borah and Pinchot is this: Pinchot is mighty strong with political insurgency, but has no followers at all among regulars. Borah is as strong as Pinchot.

with the insurgents—maybe stronger—and yet, somehow or other, he has managed to avoid alienating regularity to any considerable extent.

In the G. O. P. convention, for example, if Pinchot makes a fight, the Hoover-ites will say, "Governor Pinchot is not, in any proper sense, a Republican; he is a progressive, and a very good case can be made out for the argument that there really is a great difference.

Judging from Pete Snyder's remark, that is what they are getting ready to say about Senator Borah, in case the latter tries it.

It will not "take," however, with Senator Borah as with Governor Pinchot.

That was demonstrated at the young Republicans' meeting. The young Republicans saw the point and chorched with glee when Pete mentioned "that sterling Republican, Senator Connolly," but set questioningly silent when he named Senator Borah as a "sterling Republican" likewise, as if to say, "Well, so he is. What of it?"

The Hoover-ites may be strong in guessing that the presidential bee at last has stung Senator Borah into thoughts of real candid activity. They are not a bit wrong in considering that they have plenty to worry about, if the bee has stung him as badly as that.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

By MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT

- Tuna and Rice Loaf
- Sliced Tomatoes or
- Jellied Tomato Salad
- Creamed Peas
- Strawberry Preserves
- Rolls
- Tea

The main dish planned for this meal is one that should prove popular during the warm-summer months. The recipe will serve eight.

Today's Recipes

Tuna and Rice Loaf One cup mushrooms, sliced; two green peppers, two tablespoons butter or margarine, two cans tuna fish, two cups cooked rice, one pimiento, finely chopped; salt and pepper, two cups cooked rice, one pimiento, and green peppers in melted butter or margarine for three minutes. Flake tuna fish, add remaining ingredients with mushrooms and green peppers. Season well. Add well-beaten eggs and moisten with milk. Shape into a loaf, cover with buttered bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven about 30 minutes, or until firm and browned on top.

Strawberry Preserves—A very good proportion for strawberry preserves is to use a heaping cup of berries to a level cup of sugar. Wash the berries well and drain. Sprinkle with the sugar and let stand an hour or more. Heat over a very low fire until sugar is melted. Boil seven minutes. Pour out on flat pans and let cool. If you have space let stand over night.

Suggestions

Ironing Curtains—Ironing criss-crossed ruffled curtains is made simple by having the clothes rack back of the ironing board and hanging the completed part over it while finishing the other half.

Fourth Danger Now Minimized

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The reduction in the danger of the Fourth of July has been accomplished largely by common sense. Even yet, however, there is the necessity for supervision and care and prevention of deaths on this happy occasion is still possible.

The greatest danger in the old Fourth of July was from tetanus. Not from immediate injury by toy cannons or firecrackers or pistols, but from infection of the wounds so received by lockjaw germs. Tetanus is always a danger in a wound into which street dirt or dust has entered. The tetanus germs grow in the large intestines of horses and other herbivorous animals, and when horse dung has been scattered on the street a fine culture of such dangerous material is implanted there. Whether the comparative disappearance of the horse from our city streets has contributed to the lower mortality and incidence of Fourth of July tetanus is problematical, but it is not likely, because one or two horses can scatter enough tetanus germs to kill a whole community.

The most potent factor in the saving of life on the Fourth of July has been the limitation of armaments. The embargo on the sale of cannon crackers, especially the dynamite variety, the toy cannon and the overloaded pistol that sooner or later was doomed to explode. One shudders to remember the afternoon of the old-fashioned Fourth of July—our exhausted male parents sitting on the front porch lighting dynamite crackers from their cigars and tossing them in the air to explode. No wonder the old fifth of July was a day of death, blindness and maimedness.

An equal amount of credit must be given to the general use of anti-tetanus serum. This serum is for the prevention (not cure) of tetanus, and should be given to any person who has had a wound breaking the skin which could possibly have been contaminated with street dirt, barnyard dirt, or soil from a spot where fertilizer has been used. It should be given hypodermically as soon as possible after the wound has been received. It can be obtained from any drug store, put up in a hypodermic syringe package with a sterile needle ready for immediate use.

Editor's Note: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth Street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Tennine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Standing "Twist Love and Duty"

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"Dear Virginia Lee: I have been going with a young man for eight months. He is separated from his wife expecting to get a divorce next month. He has been away from her a year.

"I am very much in love with him and he is in love with me. He asked me to marry him just as soon as he has his divorce.

"Here is the problem. My parents do not like him for the simple reason that he is married, and they hold it against him for having run around with a fast crowd. They have forbidden me to see him. I have been meeting him on a sneak.

"I hate to disobey my parents but they can't see it my way. They have found out about my meeting him and they told me it would have to be stopped or for me to leave home. They say I do not love them or I wouldn't act this way. Of course their talk is all the bunk, for I love them.

"Do you think I'm doing wrong by going with him or do you think my parents are right? Which should I do, choose my sweetheart or my parents? I love them both. I have tried staying away from him, but it is impossible for me to forget him. Please help me. I am 20 years old; he is 22.

BOBBY.

Your letter is very pathetic to me, Bobby. You love both your parents and your friend and can't decide between them. I think your parents would have been wiser if they had not forced a choice on you. At the same time they are probably at their wits end fearing an unhappy match for you and not knowing how to break it off.

Listen, Bobby, did it ever dawn on you that your parents might be right? That a man who ran with a fast crowd and whose wife could not live with him, might be an undesirable person to marry? Wouldn't it be well to inquire into his record first, try to find out just what the disagreement between your friend and his wife was, and whether his friends are the kind that you can make yours?

It may be true, of course, that your folks are mistaken in their estimation of this young man, but it may also be true that they know more about him than you do and see more clearly—as they are not in love with him—that a marriage with him would spell unhappiness for you.

You are young. Compromise. Tell them you'll wait awhile; you'll promise not to marry for at least six months if they will also try to be just to him and not condemn him without a fair hearing. If you can't get them to agree to this, at least don't go with him until after he gets his divorce. Running around with a married man may give you a bad name. The weeks will go by quickly and you may see things differently at the end of that time. Better not to wed in haste and repent at leisure.

Worried Jackie: Way down in your heart, Jackie, if you were honest with yourself, wouldn't you acknowledge that it really is jealousy that makes you ask the girl friend not to ride in that auto to work? Pess up!

Just tell her so and ask her to forgive you. You know that accidents may happen to people riding in autos, but it looks to me as if you use that as an excuse for your jealousy. She might also get hurt riding on a street car or walking, for that matter.

Voice Just Cause For Divorce

By GLADYS GLAD

A well-known French scientist who recently came to this country to study American methods for combating deafness, asserts that in his opinion divorce is the only treatment for wives whose voices jar. He believes that having to listen to constant talk in high-pitched tones is sufficient grounds for divorce for any man, and that the beautiful woman who hasn't a pleasing voice is not to be greatly admired.

That is one aspect of beauty that isn't stressed very often. It is the desiring of far more attention than it receives. For a harsh, unpleasant voice can break down a woman's whole structure of charm and loveliness.

The talkies should have taught us women how valuable a pleasant speaking voice is. Many formerly popular screen stars dropped into oblivion when the motion pictures became audible. Many gained sudden recognition because of their charming voices. Many were forced to undergo strenuous training before their voices were considered sufficiently pleasing to suit the American public. And the individual man or woman is just as critical of a rasping, loud, objectionable voice as movie audiences.

Fortunately, a poor speaking voice isn't an affliction that cannot be remedied, such as some actual recognition because of their charming voices. Many were forced to undergo strenuous training before their voices were considered sufficiently pleasing to suit the American public. And the individual man or woman is just as critical of a rasping, loud, objectionable voice as movie audiences.

Many were forced to undergo strenuous training before their voices were considered sufficiently pleasing to suit the American public. And the individual man or woman is just as critical of a rasping, loud, objectionable voice as movie audiences.

Many women make the mistake of thinking that it is necessary to speak loudly and harshly to gain attention. I have found that the women who speak the loudest generally have the least to say. A soft, well-modulated, pleasant voice will catch and hold the ear far more effectively than any amount of bellying.

A beautiful voice can be attained by the habit of correct breathing and correct placement of the voice. And an affected manner of speech is an atrocity. Affectation is insincerity, and is as quickly detected as dishonesty in any relationship. Don't say "laaff" one moment and "laiff" the next. For if you do, the "laiff" will probably be on you.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES—Hands—Miss Thirty: You may use olive oil, lanolin, cold cream or a hand lotion of one part glycerine, three parts rosewater, on your hands before retiring at night, to keep them soft and smooth.

Oily Skin—Blue Eyes: It would be impossible for me to print my method of treating oily skin and enlarged pores in this brief space. However, the entire procedure is contained in my "Beauty Culture" booklet.

Mrs. J. F.: I would advise you to consult a scalp specialist as soon as possible about the condition you describe. You may have a scalp disease.

EXTRA INNING TILT
IN LEAGUE CONTESTLangs — Shroyers Tie;
Hat Passing Yields
$35 For Game

Braving the prospect of a collection taken in the interest of replenishing the empty treasury of the Xenia Playground Association, an overflow crowd was on hand at Cox Field Monday night to observe a double-header featuring a total of eighteen innings of comparatively good softball.

The sum of $35.57 was realized when volunteers solicited "passed the hat" among the fans and this amount will be sufficient to nearly liquidate the softball commission's present indebtedness. Collections will be taken each evening during the remainder of the week in the hope of raising about $100 to cover expenses during the balance of the season.

In the first half of the double bill, the winning streak of the Downtowners softball team, occupying second place in the National League, continued to bear a charmed life, and the result was a ten-inning, 5 to 4 victory over the Criterion team. The triumph was the first straight for the D. T. G. Club.

Parrett's single, a passed ball and an out at first produced the winning run in the first half of the tenth.

The second game between Shroyers' city championship team of Dayton and the Langs Chevrolet team ended in a 2 to 2 tie, the darkness halting the contest at the end of the eighth inning. The Shroyer team was not able to present its regular lineup, but the game was nevertheless fast and interesting. A home run by Corr in the fifth stanza enabled Langs to escape with a tie score, Linpeas.

BURGLARY AND TWO ATTEMPTS PROBED

One burglary and two other attempted robberies in Xenia after midnight Monday were being investigated by police Tuesday.

The Citizens Service Oil Co. filling station on S. Detroit St. was entered and six pennies, four stamps, a clock and a necktie were stolen, police were told. Entrance was gained through a window.

Attempt to break into the Pidgeon Battery Co. station on S. Detroit St. was unsuccessful. Using a crow bar, thieves broke the lock on a door but were unable to force a second lock.

Two prowlers were frightened away from the O. E. Sturgeon filling station on W. Second St. between 4 and 5 a. m. Tuesday before they could effect an entrance. A woman living across the street saw two men at the station and shouted. Frightened, they fled.

CREW OF NAUTILUS
OVERHAULING SUB

CORK, Ireland, June 23.—The crew of the Nautilus today was busy recharging her batteries, effecting repairs and preparing for the voyage across the Irish Channel to Newcastle-on-Tyne, where the submarine will be overhauled.

Sir Hubert Wilkins, who intends to cruise under the ice of the polar seas in the Nautilus, said today he wished to proceed to Bergen on Copenhagen as soon as possible.

RAGGED GOLF MARKS TRIAL PLAY
OF RYDER CUP TEAM CANDIDATES

SCOTTO COUNTRY CLUB, CO. LUMBUS, O., June 23.—A little ashamed of the ragged play of their first thirty holes in which Wilky Cox of Brooklyn and Billy Woff of New York took the lead with disappointing scores, a dozen American professionals to battle for two vacancies on the Ryder Cup golf team.

To a man they carried with them on their journey out across the rolling fairways today a conviction that their golf of yesterday was far below international championship caliber, and that something much better had to be accomplished to impress the Red-coat British whom they meet here Friday and Saturday.

Although Cox could boast the temporary leadership at the beginning of today's play, he could not boast of the score that gave him the lead.

It was 145—one over par. Not a man in the procession could even tie his par yesterday in the first thirty holes.

Only one stroke separated Cox and Burke, but between the latter and the three who tied for third—Denny Shute of Hudson, O., Frank Walsh of Chicago and Joe Turnesa of New York—was a gap of three shots.

A score of 149, five over par, was hardly what the hero-worshippers expected.

Even farther down the line, showing none of the mastery he displayed in winning the Western Open at Dayton last week, was Olin B. Dudley, the rummy Wilmington, Del. star, with 150. He was tied with Craig Wood of Buffalo.

Other yesterday scores were: Henry Cull of Bridgeport, Conn., and Willie Klein of New York, 151 each; Al Watrous of Detroit, 152; Charles Hilgendorf of Detroit, 157, and Dura of Los Angeles, 157.

Cox today placed his hope for a creditable score in a duplicate of his morning round yesterday when he slashed his way around in 71, one under par.

Getting into trouble in the rough—Scolio's rough in one of the deadliest in the country—he used up seven swings to get off the par-four fifth in the afternoon, and had to take a 74.

Effective putting accounted for the leader's early sub-par round. After an erratic start he pushed in three birdies and a par and reached the turn in 36. Birdies on two more holes gave him 35 on the in-bound nine.

Burke used the afternoon route to get in second position. The same rough that troubled Cox caused him trouble in the first 18.

Rattling off three birdies and a par on the last four when he came home in the afternoon, Burke took a 71, the only par-breaking score of the second 18. The rough cost him 75 in the morning.

Turnesa gave the gallery its only thrill with a 16-foot putt for a birdie on the home jaunt. Turnesa, however, needed birdies badly. Even with his sensational shot, he had a 41 on the last nine.

Ohio's Denny Shute was the most consistent in the group. He had two 74's.

The sun at Dayton had little effect upon Ed Dudley but on this scorching course it seemed to exhaust him. He took a 78 in the afternoon.

The Dudley-Hilgendorf twosome gave the crowd few bright moments. Hilgendorf was constantly in the rough and spent several minutes hunting balls. Hilgendorf's 81 on the last 18 was the big total for the day.

After Johnny Golden of New York dropped out it was reported he refused to be No. 13 in the list of starters—Captain Walter Hagen announced that all 12 would play in the final 36 today. At first it had been planned to limit today's play to the seven low scorers.

Ed Dudley, winner of the western open golf championship, is shown in action at the Miami Golf club (Dayton, O.) where he won the title with a score of four under par.

REGISTRATION FOR ANNUAL SCOUT CAMP
REVEALS INTEREST

Registration for the annual summer camp for Boy Scouts, at Camp Miami, Bryan Park near Dayton, is in progress, according to H. O. Portz, Scout Executive for T. C. Council, who is camp director.

Preparations for the camp are in charge of A. C. Wood, George D. Morrett, Joseph Spahr, Harry Simmer, all of Springfield, Glenn R. Johnson, Fairfield, A. A. Conklin and A. Moser of Xenia and Charles Nosker, Yellow Springs. Moving of tall grass, erection of tents and the repairing of the Kiwanis Lodge, the Training Post, and the water front building will be done this week. Camp opens officially Sunday afternoon, June 28.

An Indian tepee, loaned to the Scout camp by District Commissioner A. G. Lebold, will be erected near the outpost flag pole and will be occupied by three of the oldest Scout camps during each period of the camp.

Four camping periods are being arranged this year. It may be decided to extend the period longer than four weeks should the demand warrant. The schedule is June 29-July 10 with a court of honor on the last evening. July 10 and July 27 are the dates for the last week periods. The cost for camping which defrays only a small part of the expense is $7.50 per boy for one week or $7 per week if the Scout remains two weeks or more. Only registered Scouts in good standing will be admitted.

The staff of Camp Miami includes the following: H. O. Portz, camp director; Marvin Borst, coach of athletics, Cedarville College and All-Ohio center for three years on the Wilberforce varsity football team; George Hopper, Springfield, Eagle Scout and Franklin Schirmer, Springfield, Eagle Scout, American Red Cross Life Saver; Lannert Iglehart, Springfield, Eagle Scout; Sigfried Morrett, Springfield, Eagle Scout and American Red Cross Life Saver; Charles Reynard, Springfield, Eagle Scout; Lewis Wilson, Springfield, Eagle Scout and Life Saver; James Rose and Arthur Peters both Eagle Scouts and Life Saver.

Dr. Joseph Webb, Springfield, will be camp physician and Daily Nickens, who has been with the Scouts at Camp Miami for seven seasons and is known as "Cookie" to the Scouts, will again be cook.

Every possible precaution is being taken to insure a pure water-front activity and to improve the general sanitary conditions at the camp during the season. Sunday afternoons will be regular visiting times and special feature programs will be announced which will be of interest, and to which the public will be invited.

The Theater

Photoplay magazine is leading an attempt to have Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle return to the screen and has sounded out thousands of fans in all parts of the country who are anxious and willing to have the rotund comedian back in pictures, it reports.

Arbuckle was barred from the screen ten years ago after being charged with the death of Virginia Raper during a party at a San Francisco hotel, although he was acquitted after three separate trials. In recent years he has filled minor positions in studios under notorious names.

The magazine quotes Arbuckle as follows: "I have no desire to return as an actor. In the dark hours of my life it was a consolation to know that I had given happiness to millions of people. There doesn't Second Shot" has been purchased for her.

With Panama for a locale, "The Second Shot" is described as containing a characterization that in many respects parallels the dramatic qualities found in Sadie Thompson of "Rain" fame. It is an original by Garret Fort, who has been engaged to write the adaptation and dialogue. Nothing in the way of casting has been done, as the studio is undecided whether to produce this story or "Pick-Up" as the next picture.

Jackie Cooper is one of the happiest boys in Hollywood. He is sporting a gold watch sent him by Percy Crosby, artist-author of "Skipper" and is engraved "In appreciation of your work."

All that remains is the selection of one more story to fill Helen Twelvethree quota of four starring pictures in Pathe's 1931-32 program. She is working on a gangster story, "Mad Marriage," "Pick-Up" has just been announced and now "The

BUILDING TRADES MEET IN DAYTON TO DISCUSS NEW CODE

Everyone interested in or employed in the building trades and allied professions is invited to a mass meeting at the National Cash Register Co. school house Wednesday, at 7:30 p. m.

The purpose of this meeting is to acquaint all builders in Dayton and in the Miami Valley with the provisions of the new safety construction code passed by the state senate April 16, and to institute a local safety program among all employees and employers in the building industry.

This program will request all supporters to report any accidents that occur during building activities. These accidents will be investigated and analyzed and steps will be made to rectify the conditions responsible for the accidents.

Among those to be present at the assembly will be Lieutenant Governor Pickrel, Thomas Kearn, superintendent of the Division of Safety and Hygiene of the Industrial Commission of Ohio, and the commissioners in charge of the Industrial Commission of Ohio. More than 2,000 men and women representing the building industry are expected to attend.

The meeting will be in charge of H. R. Blagg, chairman; John H. Bridenbach, president of the Central Trades Commission, vice chairman, and Sam C. Davis, secretary.

Dr. Sontag, who is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, has been a member of Antioch College faculty since 1927 as head of the department of health there. BUCYRUS WILL BUY AIRPORT FOR CITY

BUCYRUS, O., June 23.—Overriding for the first time in eight years an executive veto by Mayor Arthur Schuler, city council has unanimously adopted legislation ordering City Service Director Clarence Coker to purchase Port Bucyrus as a site for the municipal airport.

Mayor Schuler, who had twice vetoed the legislation, continued his fight to the last ditch, urging council to transfer the $15,000 to the city poor fund for use next winter, and threatened a popular referendum if council overrode his veto.

A $40,000 airport bond issue was approved by citizens in November, 1929.

Council plans to lease the airport to Miss Lauretta Schimmoller, present operator of Port Bucyrus, who signed a lease with the Chicago and Eastern Airways to use the field as a regular stop on its projected Chicago-to-Pittsburgh air line.

FORMER XENIAN IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Mrs. Frances Craig, 69, formerly of this city, died at her home, 210 E. Birdsall St., Wilmington, Monday evening at 7:15 o'clock. She had been ill four weeks suffering from a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Craig was born in Clinton County December 11, 1861, the daughter of Eli and Emily Gaskill. She lived on a farm near Xenia a number of years and then moved to this city. She later moved to Wilmington with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Dunlap, where Mr. Dunlap is proprietor of the Motor Inn. She was a member of the Zoar M. E. Church and Phoenix Rebekah Lodge, No. 72, this city. Her husband, Thomas E. Craig, preceded her in death four years.

his own party behind it, is entirely another matter. Through thick and thin, the Republican party has defended the theory that there exists no relationship between reparations and war debts. The doctrine, in fact, was written by Charles E. Hughes when he was secretary of state. There are many debt collection "die hards" among the Republicans in both houses.

Thus, while every effort has been made, and probably will continue to be made, to keep the matter out of American politics, there is the possibility that it will get into politics. Party leaders and party workers are watching the situation narrowly.

France's failure today to take any definite action on the proposal caused some disappointment in Washington.

But notwithstanding the French cabinet's decision to postpone consideration for another meeting tomorrow, there was still a strong feeling of hope here that the force of circumstances and world opinion will yet compel the French to acquiesce in the plan.

- Is the refrigerator manufactured by a reliable company with proper experience in the electric refrigeration field?
- Has it plenty of food and shelf space?
- Is the cabinet itself well designed, sturdy built and properly insulated?
- Is there provision for the freezing of an adequate supply of ice cubes? (Quantity of ice rather than number of cubes, which may be of large or small size, should be taken into consideration.)

- Can the freezing of ice cubes and defrosts be speeded up when the need arises?
